The theoretical significance of the Graduation Thesis to deepen the theoretical knowledge about the content of the verification activities in the executive bodies of the local government and the methods of their analysis.

The practical significance of the Graduation Thesis is determined by the applied nature of a number of findings and recommendations obtained through the research work, as well as by the fact that its results can be used in practical activities of the local governments of the Russian Federation.

Findings of the Research:

The performance evaluation of the verification activities of the Local Government Administration is reflected in the annual report about the activities of the Administration of the city of Vladikavkaz published on the official website of the city of Vladikavkaz. However, it is not possible to evaluate objectively the verification activities of the administration due to the lack of the necessary, complete and clearly structured information.

On the whole, the verification activities of the Local Government Administration of the city of Vladikavkaz in the main functional areas should be recognized as not fully efficient.

Recommendations:

There is poor efficiency of the verification activities which are conducted by the local government of the city of Vladikavkaz, expressed in the inconsistency of actions of various structural divisions, in the impossibility of a comprehensive solution to a problem in real time and a simultaneous control of its solution.

It is possible to eliminate this disadvantage by using a rather different electronic document management system – the Electronic Document Management System “MOTIV”.
