

SUMMARY

Subject matter: Technologies for organizing the sociocultural space of family spare time (on the example of the Municipal Cultural Establishment "Novoyak community socio-cultural association")

Author: Moiseev Alex Vladimirovich

Supervisor: Professor Babayan Anshela Vladislavovna

Information about customer organization: Private entrepreneurs prokopets Tamara Muratovna

Topicality of the research: Leisure for the modern family is one of the dominant aspects of life, allowing to meet a number of needs of family members. Ffamily realizes its recreational (leisure) function more than anywhere else. At the same time, the family's realization of the leisure function is decreasing. First of all, this is due to changes in the structure of leisure itself, which at the present stages is focused on young people or certain demographic groups of the population. Family leisure retreats to the background.

Cultural institutions have a great potential for organizing the sociocultural space of family leisure. However, in most of them the available resources are not fully utilized, which leads to the degradation of organized family leisure activities in the family.

The objective is to study the technologies of organizing the sociocultural space of family leisure and develop recommendations for improving the sociocultural space of family recreation in cultural institutions.

Tasks of the research:

1. To explore the main approaches of leisure.
2. Consider the modern family as an object of leisure.
3. To analyze the experience of organizing family leisure abroad and in Russia.
5. To analyze the process of family leisure organization in the Municipal Institution of Culture "Novoyak community socio-cultural association"
6. To develop recommendations on the organization of the sociocultural space of family leisure in the Municipal Institution of Culture "Novoyak community socio-cultural association"

Object of research: is the organization of the socio-cultural space of family leisure.

Subject of research: is the improvement of the organization of the socio-cultural space of family leisure in cultural institutions.

Theoretical and practical significance

The theoretical significance of the study lies in the fact that the results of the study expand the scientific understanding of leisure, the family as an object of leisure activities and features of family leisure.

The practical significance of the study lies in the possibility of using the results of the research in the course of lectures and seminars in the direction of preparation

"Social and cultural activities." Recommendations for improving the sociocultural space of family leisure and developing the activities of a cultural institution in the framework of the implementation of family leisure have been proposed.

Results of the research:

Investigated leisure as one of the main elements of socio-cultural activities, considered its differences from other concepts (freedom, leisure, recreation, recreation), determined the value of the family in leisure activities, analyzed the features of family leisure, its levels; a cultural institution survey was conducted to determine the organization of family leisure, its strengths and strengths in this area were identified; recommendations for improving family leisure in cultural institutions have been developed.

Recommendations:

1. To analyze the need of the population for technologies and methods of organizing leisure activities, to identify their requests.
2. To analyze the structure of their services, to identify those in which it is possible to introduce technologies for organizing family leisure activities.
3. Modify and update the structure of its services in the organization of the socio-cultural space for family leisure in accordance with the needs of the population.

Expected results are to create the application of recommendations on the organization of the sociocultural space of family leisure in cultural institutions.